This is a clean and wholesome collection of contemporary romance from the Hero Hearts Series. The first three stories published by Hayley Wescott in this series are now available in a compilation set. Heroes come in all walks of life and these sweet romance stories give you a peek into what it's really like to fall in love with a man who has principles and faith guiding his decisions.

All About Trust - Book 1 Karin is new to Reno, at least sort of. She's been there a year and hasn't fully settled in to her life. Her job as a veterinarian is satisfying and she loves what she does, but something's missing. She knows exactly what it is, but she's afraid to do what it takes to change things. Nick and Buzz meet Karin in the line of duty. As K-9 cop and handler, they need to stay in tip-top shape and Karin is happy to help--at least with Buzz. Nick will have to be on his own. He's thrown off guard when he realizes he wants her to be a little more involved with him, not just Buzz. Just when Nick breaks through Karin's wall of fear, a secret comes crashing down around them. Will they be able to overcome it? Is a relationship really what God has in store for them or is this a sign that it's not the right thing?

First Impressions - Book 2 Samantha Rowell had the job she'd wanted since her teen years. She loved books and being a librarian was her dream job. What would be boring for most, made Sammie feel like she was where she was meant to be. Though she knew she didn't need a man to complete her life, she had to admit that Mr. July in a local calendar was a sight to behold. That being said, she felt certain any man who'd pose for a calendar was self-absorbed and couldn't share her wholesome Christian values. Blake Patterson moved to the small town of Pine Ridge, Georgia to join the fire department after he left the army. He needed a change, but wanted to still be able to do a job he believed in. When his sister talked him into posing for a calendar, he thought nobody would ever know. He'd been very wrong. When these two opposites meet, there's immediate attraction. He can't get her out of his mind. She can't trust him to be the guy she was hoping he'd be. When they realize they're not really so different, will it be too late to build on the love that was starting to bud? Good Works - Book 3 Natalie Rivers is put off by the addition of Dominic Rosetti to her work life. He's a well paid baseball player. He's bound to be moody and be out to get even more attention. The Hartley House - a home away from home for families of sick children - needs the celebrity endorsement, but she really wished she wasn't the one who had to deal with him. When he bumped her in the head and spilled water on her at their first meeting, she's sure she doesn't like him. Dominic is handsome and there are times when he actually seems nice. When she starts finding out more about him, she sees there's more to him than a handsome face and a big paycheck. But can she go back and do it all over again? Maybe.
