Escape to the seaside village of Little Pondale with Part One of this heart-warming and romantic, four-part serial. Mia Ward is amazed to be told she has inherited her great-aunt Matilda's thatched cottage in the tiny seaside village of Little Pondale – especially as Mia didn't know she had a great-aunt Matilda. She's even more astonished to discover she'll only inherit the place if she actually lives there for one year. Mia's a city girl at heart, not to mention she's afraid of water, so the fact the cottage backs on to a sandy beach, is not, in her opinion, a bonus. But Mia's struggling to pay her rent since being fired for inappropriate behaviour at the office party, and her boyfriend's also dumped her. When her best friend, Ella and Ella's brother, Garrick offer to help her move and settle in, Mia decides to see this as a new beginning. It may also be the start of an exciting adventure because now Mia wants to know just who, exactly, was great-aunt Matilda. And she's determined to find out. But it soon becomes clear that someone is trying to make sure Mia doesn't stay in Little Pondale....What everyone is saying about this book: "The kind of book that will capture your heart, make you laugh and just imagine how life in that village is..."
