Meet the Blanton brothers, J'Cobbey and J'Courtney. Regular niggas during the day and jackboys by night. Getting money is their motive, but it's not what they want to do forever. J'Cobbey wants to give his lady Taj of six years a baby because she keeps pressuring him about starting a family, but he is against it. Being a jackboy and a father at the same time isn't something he is feeling, so it puts a strain on their relationship, causing Taj to do the worst thing possible. J'Courtney who is the youngest of the bros wants more out of life than being a jackboy but his father wants different. J'Courtney's best friend Chanel is the only one outside of J'Cobbey that he trusts and even their relationship gets tested. Family ties and hearts are broken. Friendships and relationships are questioned. Can these two Louisiana jackboys get it together before things take a turn for the worse? You ready?
