CONTINUE ►

Xia and Nakeem had the kind of love that inspires poetry and songs. A deep and abiding commitment to each other that overshadowed everything and everyone else. The two young lovers wanted nothing more than to get married after high school and begin their charmed life together. However, life happens, and sometimes the strongest bond can be broken. A tragic event and a misunderstanding cause Xia and Nakeem to lose each other and go on to lead separate lives with new loves. Years later, fate brings them back into each other's lives. The situation is complicated by a business relationship between Nakeem and Xia's husband, not to mention the part of their history that will forever bind them. It is said that true love never dies, but are Xia and Nakeem willing to die for love?
