Nestled in the Mountains of Montana, in Eagle Rock, is the western branch of the Courage and Confidence Center for Women, aka the Three C's Ranch, where women who've been attacked go to learn skills to survive and thrive. Barrett Williams, former Green Beret and Brotherhood Protector, is lead self-defense instructor at the center. He doesn't intend to fall for the delicate beauty in his class who fights hard to be as strong in body as she is in spirit. Chyna Taylor rides the bus line from Cincinnati to Eagle Rock, changing her appearance to avoid being recognized. She wishes she wasn't small boned and easily overpowered. Before her ex lost it and put her in the hospital, she'd never fought. She swore never to be a victim again. Determined to learn to thrive at the center, she doesn't plan to fall for the big, strong man who is her instructor. Neither realizes they have little time to get her ready for the fight of her life.
