Derek Vaughn is a little too serious. Hes a type A control personality with a penchant for order and a love of water polo. But hes determined to enjoy his last year of college. The real world with a serious job and big expectations can wait for a few months. Hes going soak up every minute on campus with his friends and teammates before he moves on. The only possible kink in his plan is the new guy on the team also known as his nemesis. Gabe Chadwick has big Olympic dreams. His transfer between Southern California universities has nothing to do with scholastics. The degree is his backup plan. Hes not there to party or make friends. And he certainly isnt going to announce his sexuality. But he cant deny theres something special about the uptight team captain. However, when an unwitting friendship and mutual attraction collide, both will have to decide if this is the real thing or if theyre about to lose it all in the deep.
