CONTINUE ►

Everything seems to have fallen into place for Passion and True. They had eliminated their enemies and looked forward to nothing but good times ahead with their children. However, every action carries a consequence, and the good times come to a screeching halt. True is happier than he's ever been. He's married to the love of his life, and she's carrying his twins. Lovie, his baby girl, was happily settled in with True's family, business was great, and he was still the king of New York. One final act of vengeance endangers his entire family, and now True must bring out that cold hitta that lives within him once again. Pashia and Lucci finally got it right, and married life is better than they ever expected. Marriage may have softened Pashia a bit, but she is still a beast in the streets. Lucci wants Pashia to settle down and start their family, but can she really leave the streets behind? New Freezer and the Dirty Diamonds come together once again to hold court in the streets, but will this be the last ride for them all?
