I'm stumbling around with no memory, no idea who I am, or how I came into existence...I mean, I know my life didn't just start. The pain in my ankle and arm tells me something happened, perhaps something terrible. If only I could remember... This planet is magical or cursed, I'm not sure which. Things appear and disappear before my eyes, terrifying monsters trying to devour me. I'm alone, and frightened. And then I stumble upon them: three delicious looking guys with hard bodies. They strip naked, transforming into powerful animals like pre-historic wolves. But I know this is some trick of the mind, I know they can't be real. I've been fooled too many times. Still, I watch, enjoying the show my mind has created... Every day, they return. Maybe they are real... Are they being held prisoner by the spider creatures? Am I like them? Did I escape and leave them behind? After days, perhaps weeks of searching and never finding anyone else, I decide to rescue them. Maybe. They look dangerous. And I want them. ***Sexual situations ***Reverse Harem ***Language
