The Environmental Art wall calendar is an exemplary collection of this modern art form. One of the most exciting art movements of our time, environmental art celebrates our connection to the natural world through beauty, science, metaphor, and ecological restoration. It encompasses a surprising landscape of approaches, from ephemeral art in nature sculptures designed to last only a few hours before returning to the earth, to community-based eco-art installations that clean up polluted watersheds and promote public understanding of local and global environmental issues.
