After picking up the pieces of her broken heart, Cree Mitchell decided to dance her sadness away. What started as an outlet became a career for her as she taught other BBW's like herself the beautiful art of pole dancing. Her safe haven in her newly loved career began to fall apart the moment an unexpected death occurs. Like a storm, Dylan (Dice) Young comes into her life unexpectedly and changes everything, but when secrets come to the light, can her new love survive the challenges? Dice is entangled in a relationship that he shouldn't have gotten into. Dating his boss' daughter read like a transaction that went wrong. Finally seeing a way out of his financial chains, he heads to the business that holds his salvation, but instead of a pot of gold, he finds a new love when he meets Cree. But, will his old situation allow him to ever truly be free?
